

SONOS INTEGRATION

Install and setup this application and your Antipodes Music Server will appear within your SONOS application as a music source. This means you can use your Antipodes music server to rip and store music, play to a high quality DAC in your stereo system, and have the same music available for playback using SONOS hardware, throughout your home. Just install the application, and then open it in Settings, tick the option to integrate with your SONOS system and click on the 'Save Changes' button.
